Mexico has a long tradition when it comes to Spanish Schools, since Mexico and the US are close neighbors sharing not only a long border but culture also it is imperative for many citizens on both countries to speak each other language.

Mexico is very well known for its hospitality and friendly people, this has been used for many years by Spanish Schools making it perfect for teaching Spanish thru immersion programs. Immersion has proven to be the most effective way to learn any language since your brain has to even think in that new language.

Cuernavaca specifically is a city in Mexico where “neutral Spanish” is spoken and this why many people from different countries prefer Cuernavaca to go and study Spanish. Neutral Spanish is a type of Spanish which used accent and terms that are widely used and understood in many regions.
